DETAILED ACTION

The claims are objected to because the lines are crowded too closely together, making reading and entry of amendments difficult. Substitute claims with lines one and one-half or double spaced on good quality paper are required. See 37 CFR 1.52(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1, 2, 6 and 13 recite the limitation "said energized windings" in the 4th line of each claim. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claims. Applicant previously recited copper filaments, one of which is then energized. For clarity, the word winding or the words copper filament should be used consistently throughout the claim. Also, only one filament or winding has been energized so in the 4th line this should read "said energized winding" or "said energized copper filament."

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 2, 6 and 13 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Claims 3-5, 7-12 and 14-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Mittal and German reference DT 24 11 899 A1 both disclose spherical pistons.

However neither reference discloses spherical pistons in combination with at least two copper filaments. In Mittal a cylindrical framework is wound with a single winding 12 that is controlled by pulse source 6. Some internal part of the pulse source acts as a switch to provide intermittent power to the winding. Mittal also shows detents 7,20 that appear to have windings on them, but no mention is made of switches for the detents. The detents are active and do not change polarity as long as the pump is operating. Therefore there is no reason to switch the detents on or off or to change the polarity of the current through the windings of the detents. The German reference shows spherical pistons that are not attracted by energized windings. These pistons are moved by inclined tracks provided in each of the pump end covers. See element K in figure 1. No reason has been found to combine Mittal or the German reference with any of the other prior art references in order to construct the instant invention.
